

NSS ACTIVITIES

Voter Awareness Jatha Inspires Civic Responsibility in Jakkur, Bengaluru

On April 21, 2024, a Voter Awareness Jatha was organized at Jakkur Circle, Bengaluru, by the Election Commission of India to promote civic participation and voter education. The event saw active involvement from NSS volunteers of Sindhi College, cadets, and participants from other colleges. Starting at 7 a.m., the rally was flagged off by IAS and IPS officers and featured a bicycle procession advocating sustainable transportation and traditional Kannada dance performances, adding cultural vibrancy. The rally concluded at a nearby school, where an educational session on the importance of voting was conducted, accompanied by inspiring speeches from dignitaries and a skit by students. The event ended with a community breakfast, fostering unity among participants and successfully encouraging the local community, especially the youth, to engage in the democratic process with renewed responsibility.

Report on Environmental Conservation Camp at Nelamangala Sukrishi Farm

Date: 31st April 2024

Venue: Nelamangala Sukrishi Farm

An Environmental Conservation Camp was held at Nelamangala Sukrishi Farm on April 31, 2024, organized in collaboration with NSS and Leo Club volunteers. The event focused on promoting environmental awareness and sustainable practices.

Participants began with a tree plantation activity, planting twenty saplings to enhance green cover. This was followed by a trekking expedition, which highlighted the impacts of climate change on water resources. Educational sessions on organic farming, biodiversity conservation, and waste management were conducted by environmental experts. The camp concluded with a sense of collective responsibility for environmental preservation, empowering participants to contribute to sustainability efforts in their communities. a renewed sense of responsibility towards environmental preservation and sustainability.

Report on the Successful Implementation of the Happy Camps Initiative in Minkangurki Village

From 23rd to 25th August 2024, NSS volunteers from Sindhi College collaborated with Sri Sarvadharm Sai Arogya Kendra (SSSAK) for a 3-day Happy Camps initiative in Minkangurki village. The camp focused on health awareness, personal development for children, and community service. Day 1 involved a spiritual session, medical reviews, and evening games. Day 2 continued the health assessments and introduced personal development programs for children, fostering confidence and creativity. Day 3 featured a Health Awareness Campaign with informative sessions led by healthcare professionals, engaging the community in proactive health management. The camp concluded with a visit to Dandiganahalli Dam for relaxation. This initiative significantly improved the well-being of the villagers, instilled values of teamwork and service in volunteers, and created lasting memories and positive impacts on the community.

