~ A Greedy Day ~

VI On a sunny afternoon, three men pass through the jungle to reach home. They were laughing, having a conversation about a movie they just watched, when suddenly they find a ^{purse} wallet containing a lot of money. Each of them becomes greedy and it was seen on their faces that they wanted all the money for themselves.

One of them was sent to fetch food with some money. While walking to get food, he thinks of the luxurious life he could lead by having all that money, so he plans on mixing the food with some poison. This way the other two will die and he could have all the money for himself.

Meanwhile the other two were plotting to murder him as he returns. They start fighting and the man that went to get food dies. The other two men share the money amongst themselves and sit under a tree to enjoy the food. But little did they know what the nature had in store for them. They were poisoned. Both of them coughed blood and died, holding their money in their hands. Their greediness led them to no luxury but misery.
