Orientation program on speech craft course (Toast masters)

An orientation program on speech craft course (Toast masters) was conducted for IV Sem BBA and BA Aviation students on 24-April-2024. Total 75 students benefitted from this program.

The session focused on public speaking skills, good communication and confidence. Public speaking is an essential skill that allows individuals to effectively communicate their message and ideas to a larger audience. It is a form of verbal communication that involves delivering a speech or presentation in front of a group of people.

This session helped students to know how an individual can enhance the skills of public speaking. They focused on communication which acts as the bases for public speaking. Once an individual acquires good communication skill, they become confident. They also gave instances to improve communication and to creative thinking skills. One can start by self-introducing in the best possible manner, followed by participation in group discussion. Group discussion helps in enhancing communication as well as thinking ability. All these will instantly improve the confidence in facing public.

The session was interesting and informative which made the students to realize the importance of good and confident speech.
