Shri S. Sampathraman, the immediate past president FKCCI lighted the lamp.

Our vice principal, Prof. Parvati Devi welcomed the distinguished speakers, guests, delegates & students. The list of dignitaries and speakers include

Shri Sampathraman, Immediate past president, FKCCI

Shri BT Manohar, Chairman, State Taxes Committee

Shri KS Naveen Kumar, Tax Advocate

Shri Ajay Seth, IAS, Principal Secretary, Primary & Secondary Edn., & Former Commissioner of Commercial taxes, Govt. Of Karnataka. (GoK)

Dr. BV Muralikrishna, Jt. Commissioner of Comml. Taxes, (GoK).

Shri Sampathraman delivered the inaugural speech and said that many students do not know the intricacies of tax governance and he appreciated that Sindhi College of Commerce for organising this seminar.

He expressed that GST is one of the best tax reforms and many govts. have found that GST is the best answer for simplification and administration. It is supposed to add 2% to GDP because of simplified nature of tax compliance and administration.

Shri Sampathraman opined that 1% tax proposed to be introduced to GST as CST by the Union Govt. need to be deleted. There will be huge initial outflow on interstate sales in lieu of CGST and SGST and some solution has to be found. GST should be kept at 14% to 15% as lower the rate, better is the compliance. He has congratulated GoK for becoming the role model for other states in the country.

Session II

Shri Ajay Seth, IAS, gave an overall review of Ease of Doing Business, Changes in Structure of Indian Economy and Resource mobilisation.

Shri Ajay Seth stressed that there is need to reorient tax administration for Government Fencing to Market Fencing. We have to create a win-win situation for everyone and the biggest benefit has to go to the consumer.

Shri Ajay Seth gave some of the facts and figures:

As on today 57% contribution is from Service sector

Direct tax collection is 54%

Indirect Collection is 44% which has comedown.

Over the 9 years period the growth of indirect taxes has been 19%, Customs 14%, Sales tax 29% and Central Excise 7%.

The value addition in trade is much high when compared to the manufacturing sector.

Shri Ajay Seth stressed that there has to be balance between tax payer, rate payers and the coming generation and the overall effect of cascading effect of taxes need to be avoided.

Shri Ajay Seth outlined on the GST features of uniform registration, common return for taxes, common periodicity, IT based system and invoicing and he stressed the need for common infrastructure, registration, tax return process and GST payments.

Dr. BV Muralikrishna said that the comml. Tax dept. Has changed from regulator to facilitator and he thanked information technology which is the backbone for implementing GST.

Shri KS Naveen Kumar gave a ppt presentation on the basics of indirect taxes and the historical perspective of taxes.

Session III

Shri MP Ravi Prasad briefed about the features of GST and said that many countries have already implemented GST and in India we need to have separate taxes for the State and the Centre. The IT available to us today was not available earlier. The development in IT has helped us to bring an integrated GST. He gave an indepth knowledge on the process of registration, returns, payments and refund.

Shri Prasad felt that GST Council has to be formed which consists of Finance Minister as Chairman and each state will have a representation in the Council so that issues related to threshold, exemption, rate of tax can be handled effectively and recommendations are made from time to time.

Shri Prasad dovetailed on the formulation of CGST Act, SGST Act and Integrated GST Act and there had to be a reorientation of thought process, training in the new areas of taxation.

Shri Prasad briefed on the areas of maintenance of cash ledgers, vigilance in transaction, valid PAN and GST TIN. In this endeavour he spoke about the role of tax practitioners in upgrading knowledge, getting equipped with IT skills, legal issues, constitutional amendment, etc.

Shri BT Manohar expressed his happiness for organising this seminar as this seminar will show us where we stand in the society and it will be for the well being of all. He made a reference to Kautilay's Arthashastra.

Dr. BV Muralikrishna, Joint Commissioner of Commercial Taxes, GoK

Prof. VS Mallar, Chair Professor, National Law School of India University

Shri TR Rajesh Kumar, Vice Chairman, State Taxes Committee

CA N Nityananda was the moderator.

The focus of the panel discussion was on Macro Economic Policy, 122nd Constitutional Amendment Bill, Doctrine of Separation of Powers and Opportunities available after introduction of GST.

After the panel discussion there was an interactive session.

Valedictory

Shri K Ravi, Vice President, FKCCI in his valedictory address stated that GST will bring more revenue to some states and less to others. The Finance Minister has promised to take care of this aspect, and to reimburse the difference to the losing States out of the Union Govt.'s revenue for some years. GST will turn India into a single market. The GST would subsume 14 federal and state levies. The lack of detailed information regarding the implementation of GST is a source of concern. The success of the roll out, however will be determined the ease of transition. Some of the issues relating to GST are GST rate, Exemptions, Technological infrastructure, handling subsidies, etc. The govt. should address these issues on priority basis in order to execute GST.

Dr. Rahull Kavishwar, HoD Commerce, proposed vote of thanks.

There was overwhelming response for this seminar. 900 students from different colleges participated.

Indeed it was a very informative seminar for business management students, faculty who are teaching taxation papers, chartered accountants, tax practioners, company secretary students.

REPORT ON THE WORKSHOP CONDUCTED ON THE TOPIC “WRITING EFFECTIVE LITERATURE REVIEW IN SOCIAL SCIENCES”

On 27 June, 2015, a workshop on Writing Effective Literature Review in Social sciences was conducted for the faculties of the college. The resource person was Dr. Bagali, a gold medalist and a rank holder in the field of HR from Karnatak University. He was trained at XLRI, Jamshedpur. Presently he is working as a professor and Head of Research in Management at Jain University.

The programme began with the introductory speech on the purpose of the workshop by Prof. Triyogi Panday from Dept. Of commerce and followed by the lighting of the lamp by the dignitaries, Dr. Prakash B Nayak, Principal, Prof. Parvathi devi, Vice principal, Prof. Asha, Academic coordinator and Principal of Evening college. After introducing the resource person by Mr. Naveen of Commerce Department, Dr. Bagali, took over the stage.

Dr. Bagali began his address focussing on the relevance of research for a teacher. He said a teacher would be recognised at the college and the neighbourhood as a good teacher, but the recognition in the wider perspective is possible only by taking to research. He took his own example that at the age of 27, he got his first PhD and his second PhD was in the year 2008. He also referred to XLRI as one of the renowned places where he was trained.

He further continued by saying that one should be passionate about pursuing research and in case there is no time, research should not be the option.

Motivation, he said is required to do PhD. Some may pursue due to internal and external drive or security aspect. Review of literature should be carried on only for certain period of time from all renowned journals/ periodicals/ Articles/Research papers. He added at least five years journals published has to be referred, to get an idea about the gap- from that point the actual research begins. Apart from this a researcher should have thorough knowledge about the place where he/she has to pitch in, to find these journals.

Thereafter one has to arrive at the key words-which would help in furthering the work. Review should lead to theory building and this theoretical knowledge would help laying a precise foundation or the framework/design of the research work. He also said that one should be clear about the scope of the research.
