NATIONAL SERVICE SCHEME {2018-2019}

ANTI DRUG AWARENESS PROGRAMME

Date of the event:20-9-2018

OBJECTIVE:-

To create antidrug awareness within the students of the institution, to improve outcome for young people affected with drug addiction. To eliminate accessibility of drug supply inside and around colleges. To eradicate drug abuse by young people and boost normative consciousness to deny drug, young people from drug abuse, through awareness-raising campaigns, The campaign focused on primary prevention. Although preventing and treating drug abuse are both critically important in ensuring the health and well-being of our Nation and its people. The purpose of the Anti-Drug awareness programme is to promote preventing the drug abuse before it starts. The campaign focuses on primary prevention for three key reasons.

First, primary prevention targets the underlying causes of drug use, and, therefore, has the greatest potential to reduce the scope of the problem over the long term.

Second, over time a primary prevention campaign will lessen the need for drug treatment services, which are in critically short supply.

NOVEMBER-2017

Date:-25/11/17

MEATLESS DAY AWARENESS

Promote compassion, non-violence & reverence for all life.

In 1986, it was proposed that November 25, Sadhu Vaswani's Birthday be celebrated as an International Meatless Day. The campaign has met with considerable success in that, millions of individuals send their pledges to the Sadhu Vaswani Mission to go meatless on this day. Four state governments in India - Maharashtra, Gujarat, Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh - have issued instructions for the closure of slaughter-houses as well as butchers' shops on 25th November every year, in their respective states.

In order to create awareness in the minds of citizens about the Meatless Day campaign, Peace Marches are held in Pune and other cities in November, every year. Thousands of students from city schools and colleges march through the streets propagating the idea of Meatless Day and reverence for all life, as the first step to World Peace. Meatless day Newsletters are also issued between August and November every year to propagate vegetarianism and the Meatless Day.

On 21st we conducted a walkathon along with the shout-out about the meatless day In keeping up with the ideals of its founder, The Sadhu Vaswani Mission had launched the (S.A.K.) Campaign since 1986. The purpose of the campaign is to promote compassion, nonviolence & reverence for all life.

It is the first step towards World Peace, said Sadhu Vaswani - whose birthday, November 25, is now celebrated all over as International Meatless Day.

Reverence For Life

Sadhu Vaswani

All life is sacred. All life has its claims on every one of us. True ethics, therefore, rest on recognition of this thought – the reverence for life.

Reverence for life includes:

- Sympathy or fellow-feeling and,
- Something more, i.e. love.

Reverence for life is love for all living beings – the whole universe. This reverence makes it imperative on us not to cause pain to anybody. This pain is triple – pain by thought, pain by word, and pain by deed.

Do Unto Others

As a child, Princess Beatrix of Netherlands had a pet dog that she was extremely fond of. The care and feeding of that dog was entirely her responsibility, the regime for which she followed diligently.

Alas, one day, she forgot to feed her dog! The next morning, as per the orders of her father Prince Bernhard, this Princess was not served any breakfast. This simple action made her learn an unforgettable lesson.

We should give the same love, respect and care to animals as we give to our fellow human beings.

Rescue Our Planet

This environment, with its variety, intricacy and beauty, is what sustains us. We must put in every endeavour to keep it pristine, authentic and flourishing.

Each creature, each species serves its own special purpose. Each one is precious and invaluable in the chain of creation. Their destruction leads to environmental degradation. Only man has the power to save and sustain this planet, or to damage and destroy it. Let us vow to become architects of a world where no one hurts or harms another.

The first step in this direction is to abstain from all killing. Meatless Day, on November 25, has been chosen as a special day to unite globally and become the shining light in defending and conserving our earth and its environment. On this day let us join our hands in loving unison, letting our voices rise together, in support of making our planet a sanctuary, a refuge and a safe haven for all living creatures.

LET US FORGE AN UNBREAKABLE HUMAN CHAIN WITH THE RESOLVE TO MAKE NOVEMBER 25 A MEATLESS DAY WORLDWIDE.

Kindly Observe
NOVEMBER 25 AS MEATLESS DAY

REPORT ON VISIT TO MOTHER TERESA'S CONGREGATION OF DESTITUTES
ON AUGUST 5, 2015

Mother Teresa's congregation of Destitutes was founded by Noble Prize recipient Mother Teresa. This old age home has nearly 85 inmates. The sisters who are the caretakers of the home adhere to the principles of helping the 'poorest among the poor', 'selfless caring' and 'doing small things with great love'.

Dinner for the Boss- a lesson prescribed for III Semester BCOM English: depicts the miseries of old age and the treatment of the old by their children- who were on the other hand provided all comforts during their younger days. The message to the present day youth regarding the plight of the elderly people in the family was to be communicated through the live experience of visiting an old age home. Eventually, the faculties of English Department, along with more than 60 students from III Semester BCOM visited Mother Teresa's congregation of destitues at Venktala on 5th August, 2015.

The students generously distributed biscuits, fruits and eatables to the inmates and some also donated clothes and shawls to them.

The highlight of the visit was the cultural extravaganza performed by the students to entertain the old and amazingly the old angles were also a part of the entertainment. When the time arrived for us to take leave, our hearts were filled with unknown pain and grief. Yet, the hope and aspiration that their remaining life would be one of peace and comfort brought solace to all of us.

Traditional Advice Administered on the auspicious occasion of Graduation Day.

Every Year the Graduating students are felicitated and bestowed with the most sacred and beautiful pithy address of Shiksha Valli of Thaittireeya Upanishad, Chapter XI. What had been the practice of ancient universities like Vikramashila, Thakshashila, Odandapuri, Nalanda and the like, The College is also practising the tradition of sensitizing the behaviour and the conduct of students in terms of their responsibilities towards self, family, teachers, fellow citizens, Alma-mater etc.

The Teacher tells the students about the virtues they should try to possess and cultivate the ideals of life they should foster and such other rules of conduct for the up-building of a noble character. Grand proclamation towards the idealistic life that benefits the society and the nation is infused into the minds and hearts of the students.

Shikshavalli was administered by N. R. Subrahmanya HOD-Sanskrit Dept.

Vedas the Atman is always called 'luminous,' because as earthly light reveals the existence of an object, so the light of intelligence of the Atman reveals the whole universe to our field of knowledge. Moreover the very luminaries owe their luminous existences to this First Great Cause, the Atman.

Immortal and imperishable—The text असृतेरितः may also mean as "soaked with amrita or immortality."

[Note.—Sri Sureswaracharya in his Vartika on the above Sruti says, "the recitation (japa) of the Mantram given above conduces to purity and progress. He who seeks liberation should devoutly repeat the Mantram, with equipoised mind, with a view to attain Brahmajnana. The seeker of Moksha, who devoutly performs the Karma enjoined in the Sruti and the Smriti, attains the spiritual vision (Arsha Darsana), an intuitive knowledge of the Truth, which leads to Moksha."

Anandagiri says on the above passage, "When the devotee performs the works enjoined in the Sruti and the Smriti, in the service of the Lord (Iswara),—doing them devotedly for the sake of the Lord, and not for the sake of their immediate fruits,—and when he has been thereby purified in Buddhi and aspires for liberation alone, then he attains the intuitive knowledge which leads to liberation, that knowledge which arises in him untaught, revealing nothing but Truth."

Dharma. Swerve not from the study of the Scriptures. Having gathered for the teacher the wealth he desires, (thou) shouldst never cut the thread of progeny. Never swerve away from truth. Swerve not from Dharma. From the beneficial let thee not deviate; and deviate not from prosperity. Let thee not stray away also from the study and teaching of the Vedas."

[Dharma—i.e., the obligatory duties as enjoined in the Sruti and Smriti.

Having gathered...desires—i.e., having given the Guru-Dakshina, the teacher's fee, in the shape of gifts such as cows, gold, cloth, etc., and other objects which the teacher desires in accordance with the Law, at the close of the studentship.

Then should...progeny—i.e., after returning from the guru's house, or in other words, after the performance of the ceremony known as Samavartanam, one should take to a suitable bride for the procreation of children and thereby pay the debt of the fathers (पितृभ्यः). This is an injunction of the Sruti not to remain outside any Ashrama. As soon as the student life is finished, one should enter into the householder's life or become a Sannyasin, but never remain in a state which is neither the one nor the other, that is called Antarashrama. There is a further hint in this passage to the attitude one should have towards the married life. One should look upon marriage not as an opportunity given for sexual enjoyment, but as a sacred duty towards the forefathers and the society, inasmuch as by procreation of children the perpetuity of the family line is kept up and the departed forefathers get their offering from the family without a break, and also the social strength is maintained.

Never swerve, etc.—The repetition here of the duties enumerated above is meant to emphasise upon the fact that these are to be practised all through the life, and not for a certain period only.

The beneficial—i.e., the acts tending to self-preservation.

Deviate not from prosperity—i.e., should always try to increase the prosperity by adopting both the physical and super-physical means such as the performances of yajna etc.]

Whichever Brahmanas there are superior to us, thou shouldst remove their fatigue by serving them with seats (etc). Gift should be given with shraddha ; it should never be given without shraddha ; it should be given in plenty, with modesty, with fear, with compassion. .

Now, if there should arise in thee any doubt as regards any sacred work, or as regards conduct, thou shouldst act in those matters as do those Brahmanas there, who are guileless, of good judgment, devoted to-

Dharma, engaged (in the prescribed duties) (or) unengaged.

Now as regards dealing with persons of ill-fame, do thou deal with them as do the Brahmanas there, who are guileless, of good judgment, devoted to Dharma, engaged (or) unengaged.

This is the injunction. This is the advice. This is the secret of the Vedas. This is the commandment. This should be observed. And verily this should be observed (by thee).

[Whichever... ..with seats—i.e., wherever you find any Brahmana greater in learning and wisdom than all of us you should always serve him by offering Asana, Padya, Arghya and such other tokens of respect and articles of comfort.

Or, the text आसनेषु प्रवसितम्—can be read as आसनेषु प्रवसितम्; and the whole of the latter part of the sentence would then mean, "as they sit, thou shouldst not breathe," i.e., whenever such persons sit in an assembly, you should not talk before them,—as if, you have to withhold your very breath in reverence to them, much less prattle to show your knowledge.

Shraddha.—It is that strong dynamic faith in the truth of the Scriptures and sayings of the Guru, which becomes the motive power of one's actions. Any action or duty performed with this shraddha tends to deepen the religious consciousness and hastens its spiritual efflorescence. The opposite only deepens the egotism and increases the bondage of ignorance. Here the word shraddhā conveys both the ideas of faith and reverence. c.f. Bhagawat Gita XVII. 28.

Should be given in plenty.—Different commentators have explained the word, श्रद्धा, differently. Some have taken it to mean, "with discrimination," i.e., gifts should be made with proper discrimination. Sureswaracharya explains it also to mean that "a gift should be made fully according to one's means," because that is the Sattvic gift.

With fear.—i.e., the fear of Dharma, whose non-performance would entail sin.

Of good judgment.—i.e., who are able to discern the subtle points and judge their merits in accordance with the injunctions of the Scriptures.

Engaged (or) unengaged.—i.e., engaged by others in the performances of sacrificial rites, or an independent man not employed in any one's sacrificial work.

Or, the former may mean, "ever engaged in the study of the Vedas", and unengaged, i.e., "not urged or set upon by others to the work or conduct."

Secret of the Vedas.—i.e., the essence of the Vedic injunctions.
